A LETTER TO THE EDITOR:

As a long time member of the club, I have not been able to attend club functions (or work) lately due to injuries suffered in an auto accident on April 10, 2009. Now some of you may have seen me since the accident, but I have had to take a lot of pain medicines just to function. I have exhausted all hopes of therapy to correct the problem and have decided to have surgery to remove the compressed disks in my neck. I will have C5, C6, C7, permanently fused to correct the disks that are protruding in my spinal cord. Hopefully this will reduce the pain, and numbness in my arms and hands, and allow me to return to a normal life. As it stands I will be laid up for app. 10 to 12 weeks starting February 16, 2010, and will not be attending any club functions.

I was very disappointed to read that our current president is stepping down, due to unfounded accusations and misrepresentations that were directed to the president and other respected individuals within the club. I have been involved with other organizations at different levels, and know first hand how much personal time is donated to make clubs effective. I believe that the majority of our elected officers and board members, (and they know who they are) have done a stellar job in promoting and moving our club forward. Many club members do not understand what happens behind the scenes to make a club and its shows a success. I believe that if you have a problem, question, or concern, you should walk in these folks shoes to see what is involved to make things happen. I personally will miss the leadership that Kenny as shown for the club, and can only hope that we can find someone with as much passion and love for the club as Kenny did.

Respectfully,
Rick Jones

What It's All About

Have you ever wondered why people put so much energy into throwing a car event? It takes a great deal of planning to put on a car show or a cruise; things do not just fall into place. In a word, the main motivation of these event planners is dedication.

Most car shows do not generate big bucks. There's often a lot of man hours poured into a show just to generate a few hundred dollars profit for a designated charity. Clubs that stage car shows have meetings to secure trophies. Then the event organizers need to reach out to businesses and ask for money. You can't imagine the time involved finding businesses to donate cash.

Then there is the goodie-bag. This bag of gifts is usually given to participants as an expression of appreciation for attending a show. That goodie bag and its contents took time to assemble. As a show promoter, I know how many contribution letters it takes to get what you need. Many companies send you samples or cards for discounts and some don't bother to respond at all. These letters of request take time and postage. It's a lot of work with no guarantee of success.

Another important aspect of a show is advertising. This involves running around to every car event you have a chance to go to as well as sending press releases to all area newspapers and magazines. The flyers you find on your car seat or under your windshield wipers have time and planning in them. Someone volunteers to make a flyer and, hopefully, makes sure that all of the pertinent information relative to an event is in it. There is also time in getting them printed. If there is a press release involved then planning that information and getting it to whatever publication you want to get to is the next step.

All of this activity comes to a head when you get closer to the day of the show. Clubs and event chairpersons keep a close eye on the weather as Mother Nature can make or break an event

This culminates in the day-of activities, and if the planning hasn't been precise, things go get out of hand quickly. Why would anyone go through all of this? Dedication.
